SFSD Presents "On Duty" -- First in Video Series

A Message from Sheriff Vicki Hennessy

Just in time for the Fourth of July, I am excited to share with you the debut of our new video series titled "On Duty," which highlights the law enforcement services our deputies perform daily in San Francisco.

This segment, the first in the series, features Sergeant Alisa Davis-Zehner, the unit commander for City Hall security. The video shows what a day is like for our City Hall security staff.

The Sheriff's Department is best known for securing the county jails and providing treatment, programming and education to inmates. Future "On Duty" videos will shine a light on this important work as well as showcase the multiple jobs and duties our deputies perform in service to the City and County of San Francisco.

Independence Day brings to mind the honor it is to serve this great country. The deputies and I take great pride in working and giving back to our community. While you enjoy your Fourth of July celebration, please take a moment to salute the men and women who bravely and honorably serve, protect and defend our country in peace and in times of conflict. We thank them for all that they do.

Have a Happy and Safe Fourth of July!
